ASSESSORS ON THEIR ROUNDS.—As an amusing, though sad, evidence of the wide spread alarm and confusion produced throughout the South by the action of the present Congress, it is stated that the Assessors now on their rounds assessing the value of the property of the inhabitants of this city, find some of the houses into which they seek admittance locked and barred, nor can any response be elicited from those within, who imagine that confiscators are at work, and that what little has been left them is now to be taken away.

Turton, sheriff of Prince George's county, with a request that he should be held until this morning, when he will be taken to Upper Marlboro'. Mr. Turton arrested him in Baltimore county, near the Gunpowder river. The accused is charged with being one of the Lyles murders who escaped at the time of the murder. It will be recalled that four colored men were hung for the murder some time since, and that in their confession Nimrod Richardson was implicated.
